Community Redistricting Meetings Continue to Draw Crowds

Over the course of the summer, Members of the Florida House and Senate have been traveling the state hosting a series of public meetings designed to gather citizen testimony on the needs of Florida's many diverse communities and the potential make-up of future state House, state Senate and Congressional district boundaries. A total of 14 meetings have taken place across the Northwest, Northeast and Central regions of the state and more than 3,000 attendees have come out to participate in the once-in-a-decade Redistricting process. Two rounds of meetings are still to come and will take place in August and early September. House and Senate Members are looking forward to visiting communities throughout the South Florida region including Miami, Key West, Tampa, Sarasota and Naples.

Redistricting Map Submissions On the Rise

Several members of the public have delivered their 2012 Redistricting suggestions directly to Members of the Florida House and Senate using the state-of-the-art MyDistrictBuilder™ application which allow users to research and create their own redistricting suggestions for state House, state Senate and Congressional district maps. The Florida House has already received 20 complete or partial proposed district maps created by users of MyDistrictBuilder™ and dozens more have submitted their ideas in writing. Several members of the public have even chosen to present their creations during the state's Redistricting Public Input Tour. Additional map submissions are expected throughout the fall. You can share in and explore these submissions by checking out the Plan Explorer button at
